Rallies Rescheduled to April 25 Amid Campaign Adjustments in Bengal

Kolkata

Rahul Gandhi's planned rallies in Kolkata and Serampore, initially cancelled due to lack of police clearance, have now been rescheduled to April 25 after approvals were granted, with key events expected at central venues including Shahid Minar. The shift in campaign scheduling reflects ongoing administrative and election-related coordination, and may lead to localized movement restrictions, traffic diversions, and increased security presence around rally locations, requiring route planning and time buffers to manage disruptions.

Karnataka to Witness 4 Days of Rainfall, IMD Warns

Bengaluru

Alerts about rain for a period of four days have been announced by the India Meteorological Department for some areas in the South Interior Karnataka , and there would be sporadic rains along with thunderstorms and strong winds. Such conditions could lead to flooding, traffic problems, and disruptions in business operations. Some of the initial steps that need to be taken are ensuring proper drainage and managing traffic effectively. Early warning systems should be strengthened by authorities, and companies must plan for business continuity.

Polling Holiday in Kolkata; Airfare Surge Signals Travel Pressure

Kolkata

A public holiday is in effect in polling constituencies across West Bengal on April 23 (Phase 1), with schools, banks, and several offices closed while essential services continue to function; the second phase of polling is scheduled for April 29. At the same time, airfares on key routes such as Delhi-Kolkata have surged ahead of polling, and continued high demand may keep prices elevated and seat availability tight, potentially affecting travel plans and intercity movement, requiring early bookings and flexible scheduling.

Polling Day Closures and Travel Surge Impact Chennai

A public holiday is in effect across Tamil Nadu for polling, with most offices and institutions closed while essential services continue, alongside tight security deployment across booths and sensitive areas. At the same time, election-driven travel demand has led to a surge in passenger movement, with flights filling up and airfares rising. The combined impact may lead to localized congestion, movement restrictions, and pressure on transport systems, requiring route planning and time buffers to manage disruptions.

India Invited to Join UK–France Hormuz Security Initiative

India has been invited to join a UK–France led maritime initiative aimed at securing safe navigation through the Strait of Hormuz, a critical global oil and shipping route. The move comes amid rising tensions in West Asia and increasing risks to commercial vessels passing through the region. The initiative focuses on ensuring uninterrupted movement of ships, protecting energy supply routes, and stabilising global trade flows, with multiple countries expected to participate in coordinated maritime security efforts. This development highlights growing international cooperation to safeguard one of the world's most important energy corridors, which handles a significant share of global oil transport and is vital for India's energy imports.
